Summary

This course will appeal to anyone fascinated by designed objects and the ways they shape our lives and express who we are. From rococo to mid-century modern, arts and crafts to post-modernism, this course looks at design and decorative arts from the past 300 years.

We'll touch on architecture and art, explore major design movements and exhibitions and the influences which have helped shape fashion and interior design. You'll discover how cultural, social, economic and technological changes have influenced design and you'll find out more about the main design movements and figures but also the impact of popular culture and the role of women in design.

How will I learn?

You will gain knowledge about design and decorative arts from the 1800s up to the present day, with a particular emphasis on the 20th century. The course is delivered in a chronological timeframe so that students can appreciate how the visual arts have evolved over time.

There is no formal qualification with this course. You can participate at whatever level you feel comfortable with. Be prepared to take notes if you wish. A reading list is provided each week.

The course will be delivered through weekly online lectures. This is a very visual course, so expect lots of images. You will also have the opportunity to get involved with a Q&A session each week.
