Freedom of Expression Policy

1. Introduction

- 1.1. The purpose of this policy is to outline the College's position on freedom of expression, including academic freedom.

2. Statement

- 2.1. This Policy recognises that freedom of expression (including, freedom of speech and academic freedom) forms a fundamental part of our democracy and that UK citizens enjoy the right to express their opinions and ideas.
- 2.2. Article 10 of the Human Rights Act 1998 establishes that every person has the right to hold opinions and to receive and impart information and ideas without interference by public authority and regardless of frontiers.
- 2.3. Section 43 of the Education (No.2) Act 1986 also lays upon educational establishments the responsibility to "take such steps as are reasonably practicable to ensure that freedom of speech within the law is secured for members, students and employees of the establishment and for visiting speakers".
- 2.4. For the avoidance of doubt: The College has adopted the widest possible definition of freedom of expression, and this definition extends to anything done or said within the law.
- 2.5. As an institution of further and higher learning, the College will encourage free thought and expression. We will not censor or marginalise any group and we want learners and staff to feel safe and free to express themselves, to challenge prevailing orthodoxies, query the positions and views of others, and put forward views that may be understood by others as radical.

Education should not be intended to make people comfortable, it is meant to make them think. Therefore, staff are expected to provide the conditions within which hard thought, and therefore strong disagreement, independent judgment, and the questioning of stubborn assumptions, can flourish.

However, there is no place for violence, intimidation or criminality on any College campus or within any College learning environment, including the online environment.

The right to free expression is not an absolute right. It carries with it duties and responsibilities, and is subject to formalities, conditions, restrictions and penalties, established by this policy.

3. Objective

- 3.1. In order to maintain well-being, health and safety, academic standards, scholarship, personal integrity and communal life, essential to the College's Mission, all those who join the College or use its services are expected to take personal responsibility for what they say and what they do; participation in College activities is governed by contract, the College's Student Charter, Learner and Staff Codes of Conduct.
- 3.2. The College expects that all learners, staff, governors, the Students' Union, visiting speakers and those using or hiring the College's facilities to demonstrate sensitivity to the diversity of the College community and to show others kindness and respect.

4. Principles

- 4.1. Personal expression on College campuses, including through speech, should always be intended to inform, rather than to offend. However, the right to free speech will not be restricted simply because it may be offensive or insulting to others. In essence, education depends upon the freedom to express, debate, challenge and even ridicule opposing viewpoints.
- 4.2. The College will not act to censor or cancel any expression of thought or opinion simply because it is offensive to others.
- 4.3. However, the College will not tolerate or allow any of the following, and any of the following will result in disciplinary action being taken:
 - 4.3.1. Any expression, statement or speech that discriminates against or harasses, or incites hatred or violence against, other persons and/or groups, particularly by reference to their race, ethnicity, nationality, immigration status, religious belief, gender or sexual orientation.
 - 4.3.2. Any expression, statement or speech that interferes with another person or group(s) right to respect for their private and family life, or unjustifiably defames, slanders or degrades them.
 - 4.3.3. Any expression, statement or speech which uses threatening, abusive or insulting words or behaviour, either intending to stir up hatred or unrest or where hatred or unrest is likely to be stirred up. This includes for example, making inflammatory public speeches or posting racist comments on social media websites.
 - 4.3.4. Any expression, statement, speech or event intended to raise or gather funds for any external organisation or cause without express permission of the College Principalship.

5. Decolonising the curriculum

- 5.1. As an independent body, South Gloucestershire and Stroud College has established its own definition of decolonising the curriculum, as targeted through our Inclusion Policy. We will decolonise our curriculum not by 'taking bits out' or ignoring established fact or received wisdom but by adding context to the curriculum to enliven and enrich those established facts and received wisdom.

6. The Equality Act 2010

- 6.1. Obligations, contained within the Equality Act 2010, do not generally apply to anything done in connection with the content of the curriculum. This means that there will be no restriction to the range or breadth of issues, ideas and materials that can be used within curriculum content or syllabi. Teachers, lecturers, trainers and assessors are free to expose learners to thoughts and ideas of all kinds, however controversial, so long as they are relevant to the content of the curriculum. Even if the content of the curriculum causes offence to those with certain protected characteristics, this will not make it unlawful unless the curriculum content is delivered in a way which results in harassment or subjects learners to discrimination or other detriment.

7. Implementation – General

- 7.1. Any learner, staff member, governor or College stakeholder who believes that an expression or speech (including the publication or distribution of written material, public performances or broadcast) may pose a risk under this policy, is required to seek permission, in the first instance, from the Assistant Principal for their Curriculum Area. No advertising of any such event is permitted until a decision is reached on its compliance with this policy.
- 7.2. Where the risk posed by a planned expression, speech or event is unclear, the Assistant Principal will refer the matter, to the Principal and the Designated Safeguard Lead. If it is decided that the planned expression, speech or event does comply with this policy, it may go ahead. However, the College reserves the right establish conditions and may, require the organisers to put in place safeguards, such as extra security or a strong and well-informed chair with the power to intervene or close the event down if there is a breach of this Policy. They may also require the organisers to record the event, so there is no dispute afterwards about what was said and by whom.
- 7.3. All planned events, including guest lecturers and external speakers require a named Lead Organiser who will be responsible for all booking and control arrangements (including chaperoning and supervision of externals), conduct of the events including stewarding and moderating, chairing, monitoring and entry.

- 7.4. If it is decided that an event or other planned expression or speech poses too great a risk under this policy, the College may deny access to its campuses or otherwise ban or shut down the event. Before doing so the College may decide to consult with learners, staff or other groups before coming to decision, or to take legal advice. But the decision of the Principal will be final and will not be subject to appeal.
- 7.5. The expression of views that may be controversial or unpleasant, but do not breach the law, will not constitute reasonable grounds for refusal. However, the need to safeguard the general College population or specific vulnerable groups against controversial or unpleasant topics may be reasonable grounds for refusal.
- 7.6. Reasonable grounds for refusal would include: incitement to commit a criminal act; unlawful expression of views or opinions; support for an organisation whose aims are illegal (e.g. an organisation prohibited under law); the creation of an environment likely to give rise to a breach of the peace or otherwise bring the College into disrepute.
- 7.7. Under the Counter-Terrorism and Security Act 2015 the Governing Body of the College is required to take such steps as are reasonably practicable to ensure due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism. Therefore, the College will not authorise any event or invite any person or group to speak at the College if that person, group or organisation is officially categorised as extremist or listed on the Home Office's list of prescribed terrorist organisations. Or if there is a reasonable belief that the person, group or organisation may contravene the Prevent Duty and/or its associated formal guidance.

8. Freedom of assembly and association

- 8.1. The College acknowledges the right to freedom of peaceful assembly and to freedom of association with others, including the right to form and to join groups and unions. However, for well-being, health and safety reasons the College reserves the right to disperse crowds or gatherings where there is a risk of disorder or crime or for the protection of the rights and freedoms of others.
- 8.2. Persons or groups, wishing to stage a gathering or assembly on or around College Campuses must seek permission at least 1 month in advance from the College Principal; and the College reserves the right to establish conditions and may require the organisers to put in place safeguards, such as extra security or additional health and safety measures.
- 8.3. Should learners, staff, governors or other College stakeholders object to an event that is allowed to take place, they will be allowed the right to peaceful protest for one hour prior to the event taking place. They will not be permitted to interfere with the running of the event.

8.4. This policy does not affect the conduct of lawfully organised picketing.

9. Responsibilities

9.1. All College stakeholders will have regard to the objectives and principles of this policy and as such are encouraged to talk with others in order to fully understand the College's approach to guarding freedom of expression and assembly; and all College stakeholders should respond sensitively to any issues or concerns raised regarding this policy.

9.2. Faculty and School staff are responsible for ensuring that learners, staff and external persons and groups, to whom this policy is relevant, are made aware of it and the rights and obligations it creates.

And:

At least once annually, during induction activities, Higher Education tutors must bring to the attention of their learners, information relating to freedom of speech, as is relevant to them and the activities of the Student's Union.

9.3. Should an external speaker not be approved through this process, the College's Designated Safeguarding lead may consider sharing information with other educational establishments in order that they can have prior knowledge. should the same speaker be part of an event they may be hosting.

9.4. If an external speaker is not approved through this process, because of a concern related to or linked with the Prevent Duty, the College's Designated Safeguarding lead will advise the Regional Prevent Co-ordinator, who will then advise the FE and HEI network accordingly.

10. Complaints

10.1. Any learner, staff member, governor or other College stakeholder may make a complaint using the College's Complaints Policy. Where complaints regarding freedom of expression are upheld, the College will take all reasonably practicable steps (including disciplinary measures) to secure compliance with this policy on freedom of speech and meet the Governing Body's duty under section 43 of the Education Act 1986.

11. Reporting requirements

11.1. Records of proposed events and external speakers, which are referred to the College Principalship, and any consideration relating to their suitability, will be stored securely and confidentially for 5 years, in line with the SGS Data Privacy and Protection Policy.

12. Hire of Premises by External Organisation

12.1. The Assistant Principal, Corporate Development or other senior member of staff designated for such purposes will decide on the letting or hiring of College premises to external organisations. When doing so, due regard will be had to the factors set out above.

12.2. The Assistant Principal, Corporate Development or senior member of staff designated for such purposes may impose any conditions or restrictions deemed reasonably necessary to ensure compliance with this policy and will make clear on every occasion that the hirers are responsible for fulfilling their duties under Section 43 of the Education (No.2) Act 1986.

Application to stage an event, speech or other activity on College premises or via online streaming through the College's systems. Note: this form is only required when planning events, speeches or other activity which may pose a risk to freedom of speech or to the rights and freedoms of others.

Please note that the freedom to debate and discuss the merits of competing ideas does not, of course, mean that individuals may say whatever they wish, wherever they wish. The College may restrict expression that violates the law, which falsely defames a specific individual that constitutes a genuine threat or harassment, that unjustifiably invades personal privacy or confidentiality, or that is otherwise directly incompatible with the functioning of the College.
